YOUR HOST CITY, Hong Kong, is home to over seven million people, making it one of the most densely populated and fast-paced places in the world. You'll also visit other fascinating cities in Asia during your traveling Signature Seminar. Take a tai chi lesson in Beijing and visit a high-tech corporation in Singapore (fall semester). Or visit several cities on Mainland China and travel to Taipei (spring semester).

YOUR PLACE IN HONG KONG

At first glance, you'll see Hong Kong as an ultramodern city. But you'll soon look deeper and realize that with its mixture of Western and Eastern values, cultures, and traditions, Hong Kong is also your ideal gateway to China, and to all of East and Southeast Asia.

SU Hong Kong takes full advantage of its connections with leading education institutions, organizations, and businesses across the region. This translates into opportunities for you, both inside and beyond the classroom.

Through extended travel seminars, field study, and guided research projects or internships, you will meet and interact with local students and scholars, community and business leaders, journalists, politicians, artists, and entrepreneurs.

Though daily life in Hong Kong is distinctly fast-paced, there is another dimension you will discover: the deep cultural connections that center on family, friends, celebration, and tradition. Come find your place in Hong Kong.

"I was pretty naive when I first arrived. I thought Hong Kong was just another New York City in Asia. I have never been so wrong. I had expected the big buildings and skyscrapers, but the magnificent beaches, and the outrageous hiking, bike riding, and boating were all news to me. I was happily surprised."

Living in Hong Kong

GOOD TO KNOW

Hong Kong was returned to China in 1997, after 150 years as a British colony.

Dim sum, a style of Cantonese food of bite-size portions prepared in steamer baskets, is popular in Hong Kong restaurants.

Hong Kong's economy is enormous: The city is home to over 40,000 companies.

The city's official languages are Cantonese and English, so all official signs are in both languages.

You'll want to consider purchasing an Octopus card, an electronic debit card that is accepted on public transportation, and by shops, supermarkets, universities, fast food restaurants, and convenience stores.

HONG KONG IS one of the world's most dynamic cities and boasts an abundance of cultural resources and entertainment venues, including museums, theaters, art galleries, and restaurants. During your stay, you'll live and travel like a local.

The SU Hong Kong program is based at City University of Hong Kong (commonly known as CityU). Students enrolled in SU Center classes live in shared apartments, a short commute away. Those enrolled in CityU classes will be placed in a CityU residence hall on campus. All students have access to CityU facilities, including a sports complex, an Olympic-sized pool, and an ultramodern library. Inexpensive meals are available at CityU's four cafeterias or at local restaurants or noodle shops.

City University is located in Kowloon, only a few minutes' walk from the MTR (Mass Transit Railway), Hong Kong's inexpensive and efficient public transportation line.

Because it is so easy and inexpensive to travel, you will also want to explore beyond the city. More than 70 percent of Hong Kong is woodland, grass, and scrub, and there are beaches, fishing villages, and rural communities where life has gone unchanged for centuries.

Academic Program

THE SU HONG KONG PROGRAM features two distinct options: study at the SU Hong Kong Center or full enrollment at City University of Hong Kong. Whichever you choose, you'll enjoy the support of administrative staff at the SU Center and participate in activities designed to augment the classroom experience.

WHEN YOU APPLY, YOU'LL CHOOSE ONE OF TWO OPTIONS:

Hong Kong Center

The SU Hong Kong Center program consists of three modules taught by SU Abroad faculty.

Module A is a 3-credit Signature Seminar: The Challenges and Opportunities of Southeast Asia: China, Malaysia, and Singapore (fall semester) or The Greater China: Past, Present, and Future (spring semester). See descriptions on page 13.

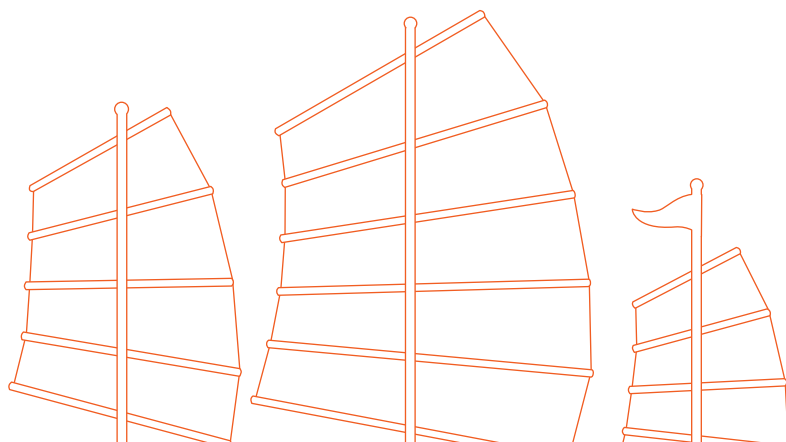

Module B consists of 10 weeks of intensive classroom instruction. Choose three to five courses from a selection of offerings in business, economics, political science, history, religion, and Chinese, earning up to 13 credits. Students with no prior knowledge of Chinese language are required to take beginning Mandarin (CHI 101, 4 credits) or beginning Cantonese conversation (FLL 141, 1 credit). Intermediate and advanced Mandarin courses are offered for students with previous course work in the language.

The next five weeks (Module C) are devoted to an intensive, 3-credit internship/experience credit or independent study/guided research. At the end of Module C, students reconvene to share and analyze learning experiences.

Hong Kong Center & City University of Hong Kong

Take all your course work in English at CityU alongside Chinese students. In the fall, you may participate in the Signature Seminar, but an internship component is not possible, due to the CityU semester calendar. In the spring, the Signature Seminar is not available; however, at the end of the semester, you may enroll in a five-week internship in Shanghai or Beijing for an additional fee. Talk to the SU Hong Kong admissions counselor for more information.

The programs of study at City University of Hong Kong include management, business, humanities, engineering, and social sciences. Full-time study in the College of Science and Engineering is available only to Syracuse engineering majors.

City University of Hong Kong

Students in the CityU program are advised to enroll in a maximum of five courses. You must be prepared to stay in Hong Kong through your last exam, which may take place one to two weeks after the SU Hong Kong Center program officially ends. You earn 3 credits for the following CityU courses (except where noted, all are taught in English). These courses are open only to students who have been accepted by CityU.

Syracuse University engineering majors have the option to take engineering classes as full-time exchange students at either CityU or Chinese University of Hong Kong. This requires an advance planning meeting and approval by the Engineering and Computer Science study abroad coordinator to discuss course options prior to submitting an application.

“The Signature Seminar at the start of the semester gave me the most memories. It was then that I immediately fell in love with China, solidifying my desire to work there in the future! There is so much to do, and there are so many places to go. The best part of it is the opportunity to mingle with people from around the world, especially as Hong Kong is a top business destination for expatriates.”

Signature Seminar

YOUR SEMESTER WILL BEGIN with a two-week seminar designed to give you an experiential overview of China's history and culture. SU Signature Seminars and course-related field study provide on-site learning opportunities that simply cannot be duplicated in the classroom.

FALL SIGNATURE SEMINAR

The Challenges and Opportunities of Southeast Asia: China, Malaysia, and Singapore

HST 400.1/IRP 300.1 (3 credits) required for Hong Kong Center students; optional for CityU program students

Riding on a wave of increasing economic and political confidence, the nations of Southeast Asia are exercising new and significant influence on world affairs. This seminar takes you to Mainland China, Malaysia, and Singapore for an overview of the economic, political, cultural, and environmental significance of the region. On your journey, you will explore Confucianism and Taoism and examine Islamic culture and art. You will also visit prominent financial, historic, and cultural sites to build foundational knowledge for your semester in Hong Kong. CityU program students earn 2 credits for the pre-semester traveling portion of this seminar.

SPRING SIGNATURE SEMINAR

The Greater China: Past, Present, and Future

HUM/IRP 300.2 (3 credits) required for Hong Kong Center students

Your journey will take you to several key cities in Mainland China and Taiwan to experience firsthand the history, culture, and aspirations of China. You'll visit monuments of the past, such as the Great Wall in Beijing, and signposts to the future, such as the massive investments in infrastructure. The seminar also includes lectures by distinguished academics, foreign correspondents, and leading businesspeople, and encounters with ordinary people in their homes, shops, offices, and cultural centers. This seminar will help frame your semester in Hong Kong.

“I interned at Asia City Media Group in the Hong Kong Magazine department, writing features, stories, and columns. In my first week, I attended a media preview to interview the founders of the Jack Wills clothing brand. I enjoyed having the opportunity to network with important media officials in Hong Kong daily. This internship is going to pave the way for my career.”

Internships and Guided Research

MODULE C IS a five-week session that allows Hong Kong Center students to pursue professional development opportunities—either through an internship with a company/organization or through structured research with guidance from an on-site professor.

EXPERIENCE CREDIT AND INTERNSHIPS

Hong Kong internships (defined by the Hong Kong Immigration Department as “Hands-on Attachment Training”) provide a practical understanding of how businesses function and also enable students to establish contacts and gain impressive résumé-building experience. This intensive program (placements are at least 40 hours a week) is for qualified students with a minimum 3.0 GPA and relevant course work and/or prior experience in the requested internship field. Some internships require Chinese-language skills. Placements include international and nongovernmental organizations, businesses, banking firms, companies in the communications industry, and many more. A list of representative placements can be found on the SU Abroad website. All internships are for 3 credits; requirements are posted on the website.

Selected candidates are invited for interviews by interested companies. Because the program is competitive, placements cannot be guaranteed.

The territory of Hong Kong consists of more than 200 islands.

INDEPENDENT STUDY/GUIDED RESEARCH

Many students develop specific interests during Module A and Module B that they wish to explore in more depth. With the help of SU Hong Kong professors and professionals, students are able to take advantage of excellent on-site resources to conduct both library and primary research (through interviews, surveys, etc.). A listing of more than 80 past and newly designed topics and projects is posted on our website. Students earn 3 credits for their projects in business administration, economics, finance, history, marketing, religion, political science, and regional security and antiterrorism. Students who want to design a project in a field not listed will need to submit a proposal for approval upon acceptance to the program.
