GENERAL SYRACUSE ABROAD STANDARDS OF BEHAVIOUR

Syracuse Abroad seeks to provide students with international education opportunities, which allow them to learn in a respectful and safe environment. Behaviour, which violates local laws or disrespects the program, host country, or homestay rules will be considered in violation of the Syracuse Abroad Standards of Behaviour. More information can be found here: <http://suabroad.syr.edu/who-are-you/accepted-students/su-abroad-policies/behavioral-standards/>

Examples of violations include but are not limited to:

- Actions that are considered abusive, harassing, or actions that physically harm or threaten physical harm to any persons (including oneself).

- Damage to property.
- Violation of housing rules with host families, apartments, or other housing arranged by Syracuse Abroad and/or conduct that jeopardizes the relationship between a Syracuse Abroad program and its established housing providers.
- Violation of hotel rules during orientation, field study seminars or course related field trips.
- Disorderly conduct, public intoxication, and/or excessive use of alcohol.
- Use or distribution of illegal drugs.

Sanctions

Students who violate Syracuse Abroad Standards of Behavior will be subject to different sanction levels in accordance with the seriousness of the violation. The levels are:

1. Warning

In instances of less serious deviation from the Syracuse Abroad Standards of Behavior, the student will be formally warned in a letter from the onsite program director or his/her designee which details the possible consequences of continuing such behavior.

2. Disciplinary Warning

This status indicates that the student has made a serious violation of the Standards of Behavior and/or has already received a warning for prior behavior. Continued poor behavior could lead to disciplinary probation, expulsion from housing, or expulsion from the program. The onsite program director will formally document that the student's behavior has been deemed unacceptable. A copy of the documentation will be sent to the Syracuse Abroad Associate Provost, International Education and Engagement and the Syracuse University Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities (SU students) or the student's home institution study abroad office (visiting students). Sanctions for a disciplinary warning may include meeting with a staff member for counseling, completing community service (restorative punishment), and/or writing a research paper.

3. Disciplinary Probation

This action constitutes a change in status between good standing and suspension or expulsion from the Syracuse Abroad program. The student is allowed to remain enrolled in the Syracuse Abroad program with restrictions. Further violations may lead to immediate suspension or expulsion from the program and perhaps the university. The decision to place a student on disciplinary probation will be made by the onsite program director in consultation with the Syracuse Abroad Associate Provost, International Education. The onsite program director will formally document the student's behavior as well as the conditions by which the student will remain enrolled in the program. The student must have a series of meetings with appropriate staff, abide by the conditions outlined in the formal documentation, complete community service (restorative punishment), and/or write a research paper related to the violation.

4. Residential probation with possible removal or expulsion

This status indicates that the student has violated housing rules as outlined by the Syracuse Abroad center, host institution, or housing agent. The decision to place a student on residential probation will be made by the onsite program director in consultation with the Syracuse Abroad Associate Provost, International Education and Engagement. The student must have a series of meetings with appropriate staff, abide by the conditions outlined in the formal documentation, complete community service (restorative punishment), and/or write a research paper related to the violation.

Further violations may result in [1] the immediate removal of the student from Syracuse Abroad sponsored housing and [2] possible expulsion from the program. In the case of immediate removal, the student will be required to find and pay for their own housing for the duration of the program and to sign a Notice Regarding Independent Housing Arrangements. There will be no refund of the housing fee in the case of removal or expulsion. The decision to remove or expel students will be made jointly by the onsite program director and the Syracuse Abroad Associate Provost, International Education and Engagement.

5. Suspension or termination from the Syracuse Abroad program

The Syracuse Abroad Associate Provost, International Education and Engagement may suspend or terminate a student's participation in the Syracuse Abroad program in the event that student fails to comply with the program Conditions of Participation or other Syracuse University policies and procedures, or if Syracuse Abroad believes that the student's participation poses a danger to the student or others or threatens to impede orderly conduct of the Syracuse Abroad programs. Such suspension or termination is in addition to, and not in lieu of, disciplinary action that may be imposed by Syracuse University or the student's home institution pursuant to applicable policies and procedures.
